What To Do This Week

AUDIENCE	DO THIS WEEK
Executives and boards	Ask whether the threat assessment assumes a fast, informed planner. Confirm who owns surveillance detection and reporting.
Utilities and critical-infrastructure security	Walk your perimeter as an outsider would. Check transformer spare and replacement plans. Log and report suspicious surveillance and drones.
Venues, hotels and event operators	Review screening and bag policy. Brief front-line staff on pre-attack surveillance behaviors. Check who can enter back-of-house areas.
Policymakers	Watch the Senate hearing on AI safety announced after the report. Ask for control-group testing so uplift can be measured.
The public	Report unusual surveillance of utility sites, venues and transport, and unattended items, to local law enforcement.

Protective steps only; no attack detail. Based on the findings in GAO-27-108814. Full assessment at commandeleven.com.
